Brightening Veterans Lives

They stood up for our country. Now, it's our turn to stand up for them.

Join BVL to boost the spirits and brighten the days of our active duty and veteran service men and women through programs that bring music, sports, the arts, pet visits, games, and special events to bedsides and therapy rooms. Through BVL, our nation's heroes enjoy activities that help reduce loneliness, increase camaraderie, and speed recuperation.

“Our friends at BVL have always been with us to serve our nation's veterans through support for recreation therapy programs. Our country owes America's service men and women a debt of gratitude, and we appreciate that BVL has never forgotten their sacrifices. We are pleased and proud to work with them in support of our veterans and we thank BVL for their commitment to the veterans cause.”

— Eric K. Shinseki, Secretary
Department of Veterans Affairs

BVL is a designated 501 (c) (3) which has raised more than $40 million to help America's heroes since its founding in 1942. BVL is consistently recognized for efficient and effective fiduciary stewardship, earning recognition as one of "America's Best Charities" and awarded a "Top Rated" honor from GreatNonProfits. BVL is a member of the Combined Federal Campaign (#93325).

2014 Open Championship Tourney brings many changes

4-bowler teams, additional prize categories, added brackets

Many changes are in store for this season's NCAUSBCA Open Championship Tournament that is scheduled for three consecutive weekends beginning March 29-30, 2014 at The Lanes Fort Meade (team) and Bowl America Shirley (singles & doubles):

- The team event will consist of four bowlers instead of five.
- The highest yearbook averages from the past two seasons (2011-2012 and 2012-2013) will apply if available.
- The Sports Plus/Carmen Don Pro Shop of Alexandria, Va., will sponsor a new optional handicap singles prize category for bowlers ages 65 and above (who may also participate in the returning optional handicap singles and all events categories for those ages 55 and above that Sports Plus/Carmen Don again will sponsor).
- A new "Squad Sponsors Prize List" with prizes of $300, $200, and $100 will be offered to those who enter just six teams.
- There will be several bracket categories for those who desire to risk a few dollars to win a lot more.

HALL OF FAMER
GEORGE R. SOOK,
1932-2013

George R. Sook

George R. Sook, a past president, Hall of Fame member, and longtime director at Crofton Bowling Centre, died October 30 after losing his year-long battle with cancer. He was 81. Mr. Sook joined the board of directors of the Nation's Capital Area Bowling Association (NCABA) in 1986 and became a vice president in 1992 before advancing to the presidency for the 1997-1998 season. He was the owner of "S" Services, a tax firm, and served as NCABA's and NCAUSBCA's accountant and tax advisor for many years. In addition, he was in charge of the association's Certified Lane Inspectors Program. It can be safely noted that while serving as an association board member and volunteer, no one raised more funds for BVL than he. Mr. Sook retired with the rank of Major after 20 years of service in the U.S. Air Force.

BRIEFLY....

Herman Lee Jr.

Woody Stewart

Marina Akers-Epps of Fort Washington, Md., Herman Lee Jr., of Clinton, Md., and Woody Stewart of Annandale, Va., recently joined the NCAUSBCA board of directors. ... NCAUSBCA's 69th Annual Women's Championship Tournament will take place June 20-22 and 27-29, 2014 at Parkland Bowl. Additional information will appear in the next issue. ... Bowlers competing in short-season leagues that begin March 1, 2014 or later can purchase a USBC Adult Basic membership. ... It was earlier learned that Rose Marie Myers, who served as secretary of the Tuesday Afternoon Seniors League at Crofton Bowling Centre and held the same office with the Maryland State Women's Bowling Association, died August 29 at age 76.

MEMBERSHIP DEPT.

The following bowlers recently were indefinitely suspended from membership in USBC: Patrick Campbell of Hyattsville, Md., and Sherri L. Freeman of Fort Washington. Campbell is not to hold office; Freeman is never to hold office. ... Larry C. Holcombe Jr. of Largo, Md., and Damon D. Williamson of Temple Hills, Md., are suspended from holding office and must immediately resign any office in a USBC state or local association. Each, however, is eligible to compete in USBC leagues and tournaments. ... Robin B. Parsons of Cooksville, Md., has been indefinitely suspended from membership and may never hold office. ... Meanwhile, Tyrone M. Broady of Oxon Hill, Md.; Dinmarc Gonzales of Gaithersburg, Md.; Bernardo Magtangob of Germantown, Md.; Bobbie A. Pugh of Fairfax Station, Va.; and Karl S. Williams of Woodbridge, Va., recently were reinstated to membership in USBC and again become eligible to compete in USBC leagues and tournaments with all of the attendant membership privileges.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE • GENE O. MAYS

Correct procedures must be followed at all times

Now that we are well into our new bowling season, it is very important that we dot all our "i's" and cross all our "t's": We should make sure that correct procedures are followed at all times.

I have visited several leagues, and there are still some questions about rule and policy changes. For example, some bowlers do not understand that their summer league dues are no longer carried over into the fall league season. I advise anyone with questions on this or any other matters to contact your lane director or the association office.

Meanwhile, league officers should make sure that all bowlers are in good standing membership-wise if they are not affiliated with this association. Bowlers certified this season in the Baltimore area, for example, need to hand the league secretary a completed membership application and $11 ($10 local and $1 Va. State dues), whereas certified Fredericksburg-area bowlers (who already have paid Va. State dues) need only pay $10 in any NCAUSBCA-area league.

The secretary should make sure the league application, membership cards, and appropriate fees are submitted within the first 30 days of the first league session, as this can affect the processing of awards as well as bonding. Presidents should have their Audit Committee in place as specified in Rule 102c(5).

With all systems ready to go, LET'S BOWL!

Nearly $4,000 raised for BVL at 4th Annual Mixed Tourney

Almost $4,000 was raised for BVL, The Bowlers to Veterans Link, by participants and attendees of NCAUSBCA's 4th Annual Mixed Tournament in Support of BVL, which took place November 9-10 and 16-17 at Bowl America Shirley. Tournament Director Tom

Dale presented a $2,800 check from the tournament at the association's November board meeting, while BVL Committee Chair Berlin Myers said an additional $1,130 was collected from instant raffles, ball raffles, and other activities during the event.

BVL, bowling's oldest charity founded in 1942, supports America's veteran and active duty service men and women.

Here is a list of this season's tournament champions:

Complete prize list

Are your league officers performing their duties?

Most of us are well past the first third of the bowling season, and there are a few things that should be complete by now.

Secretaries:

- File the league sanction application within the 30-day grace period. Failure to do so violates the bonding program requirements.
- Give each team captain a copy of the league rules.

Treasurers:

- Set up a bank account requiring two signatures to withdraw league funds and arrange to have the bank statement sent to the League President.
- Provide each bowler with a report of their payment history to date.
- Use an accounting system can withstand an audit.

Presidents:

- Made the first monthly audit of the league's funds to insure all is in order and to comply with the bonding program requirements.

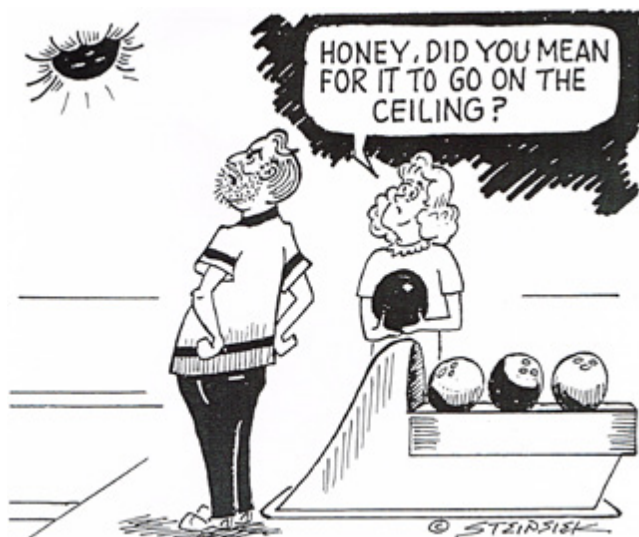

- Appointed a prize committee.
- Appointed an audit committee that should conduct an audit midway through the season.

If the league officers have accomplished the above tasks, then your league is off to a good start.

Bowling is changing from the carefree days of just showing up, throwing the ball, and having a great night of fun and relaxation with your teammates among monster leagues of 200 bowlers, cheap prices, and trophies. Some of these changes involve awards and membership processing, so it's very important, now more than ever, that you get involved and pay attention to what's actually happening if you want to continue to enjoy your weekly league sessions.

CHRIS JOHNSON

NCAUSBCA No. 1-ranked men's bowler for 2012-2013 season

Chris Johnson earned the top spot for the men in NCAUSBCA's 2012-2013 rankings; it was his second consecutive year and third time in his career as the No. 1-ranked bowler. He recently answered several questions posed by editor Bob Cosgrove.

In today's environment, do left-handers really have advantages over right-handed bowlers?

It depends on the situation and what you're bowling on. In league, over the long haul, if the left [side of the lane] starts off well, most likely it's going to be well all evening. If the left is not very well, and there's nothing else left to break it down, it's not going to get any better.

Do you ever feel any anxiety knowing that you essentially need to score a 700 series merely to maintain your average?

I really don't think about my averages in leagues. I'm mostly thinking about what I need to do for my team to win whatever points and if I'm in brackets or pots and side stuff whatever I'm trying to do to score and try to make a couple of dollars. So scores are irrelevant.

What aspect of your game are you most proud – the strongest?

I think I'm a little mentally tougher and don't let a bad shot, a bad break, or whatever early on kill me for the rest of the tournament or league.

What do you find yourself thinking about and/or working on the most in your game?

Depending on what I'm bowling ... in a lot of league settings, my mind just wanders – a lot of stuff going on, and I don't think I'm as focused as I probably could be. I don't want to just sit there by myself and just focus like I do in tournaments. In leagues, you try to have fun. I think my focus in leagues is not as great. The reason is most league conditions are soft, and that's probably why my average is higher.

Speaking of environments, what lane condition do you find most challenging?

For league, because I have a heavy ball speed, I tend to struggle on longer oil patterns.

How do you keep up with all the equipment changes today?

Fortunately, I'm signed with one of the greatest ball companies, Storm, since 2003. We have a great staff, and I'm lucky to have a local representative, Mike Sinek, so I can go by him for suggestions and stuff like that – about what ball is what. Also, I've had great people over the years drill my stuff who have really taken care of me, lately Gee Lopez and Norbert Taylor.

What three local players do you most admire?

I'd say Keni Lowe [Jr.] is one. I've known Keni since youth leagues, so over 25 years. If I was on a team and I wanted someone to throw three [strikes] in the 10th frame, it would probably be him. If I couldn't throw it in the 10th frame, I'd want him to throw it for me. He's probably one of the best clutch bowlers I know. Off the top of my head, I'd say Keni, [Hall of Famer] Greg Turner just because I love how he carries himself. He and I have been friends a long time and bowled doubles forever. He's a good bowler and everything, but more importantly, just his stuff outside of the lanes and how he does it, I like that. Brian Cavey, who bowls at [The Lanes] Fort Meade is always in the hunt and always gives himself a chance to win.

How do you wish to be viewed by your fellow players?

I would hope maybe if I've come across to a few of them the wrong way, particularly when I was younger, I probably came up a little bit arrogant, a little cocky, although my friends around me really know me know that I'm not like that—how I act on the lanes is a lot different than how I act off the lanes. But I think because of some of the ways I act, whatever, it probably does come off as cocky. I'm not as bad as I used to be. As I've gotten older and had kids, my kids at tournaments are usually in the bowling center with me, and 70 to 80 percent of the time I just tone it down for them because I don't want to act on some of the dumb stuff I do. I want to set a good example.

In reviewing your career thus far, what's been your No. 1 bowling accomplishment?

Fortunately, I've been able to do a lot of good things—winning a PBA regional in Raleigh, N.C., in 1995, the first year I joined, that was pretty awesome. It financially probably wasn't the biggest one, but I wanted to win a PBA tournament from the time I started bowling.

What do you like to do when you're not bowling?

Hang out with my kids—watch them bowl, watch them play basketball, watch them play football, play video games with them, go over their homework. I'm for the most part a homebody.

How has your family affected your bowling career?

It originally slowed it down some, but at that point, it gave me more of a balance because bowling was just bowling, and there are more important things.

What bowling goals remain for you?

I just want to stay competitive. If I can still win one or two tournaments a year or at least give myself a chance to win.... When I turn 50, if health and everything is good, I probably would like to compete in at least a few PBA Senior tournaments but still be able to compete with the young guys.

Ranking Guidelines

ADULTS

- Bowl in at least two NCAUSBCA-certified leagues (NCAUSBCA-certified travel leagues included) in two different bowling centers. (Sport league averages will not be considered for the rankings.)
- Bowl a minimum of 66 games in each qualifying league.
- Bowl in each event (team, doubles, and singles) for the current season in an NCAUSBCA Championship Tournament (Women's and/or Open tournaments). Women must bowl in the Women's Championship Tournament.

MARINA AKERS-EPPS

NCAUSBCA No. 1-ranked women's bowler for the 2012-2013 season

Marina Akers-Epps finished last season as the association's top-ranked woman bowler for the first time in her career. The 20-year veteran of the Bureau of Labor Statistics at the Department of Labor recently answered questions presented by editor Bob Cosgrove.

Do you ever feel any anxiety knowing that you need to score above a 650 series just to maintain your average?

I have anxiety every time I bowl! Most of the times when other teams see me, depending on who they are, they're like, Oh, okay, I'm bowling Coach Mo, so they're out to try to bowl me and beat me. So if I don't have 650, I have to like, bowl my average all the time because anytime somebody beats me, it's like they beat the "professional bowler" or they beat Walter Ray Williams Jr., or what have you. So I always have pressure anytime I bowl.

What part of your game are you most proud of -- the strongest?

My spare game. I've really worked on my spare game, actually, because I leave a lot of 10-pins—and I leave a lot of 7-pins lately. It's just to keep the frustration down. I'll be frustrated, but at least I if I make the spare, it won't hurt as much.

What part of your game do you work on or feel you need to work on the most?

I actually drift to the right, so I've been working the last two years on not drifting or walking straighter. I'm even able to stop in my approach when I know that I'm drifting.

What lane condition do you find most challenging?

Anytime there's oil on the outside [boards] – a reverse block – anytime there's really a lot of oil outside [the] 10 [board].

Which three local women bowlers do you admire the most?

The first one has to be [Hall of Famer] A. Jane Hassell, Yvette Ford, and I'd have to say [Hall of Famer] Lynn Elmore.

How do you wish to be viewed by your fellow players?

A competitor at heart but willing to help out my teammates.

How do you keep up with all the equipment changes today?

I talk to Royal [Howard] at Jay's Pro Shop. I talk to him a lot about my balls. For the last couple of years, he's been my only ball driller. Most of the time, I'll just tell him, "I need help with ... XYZ," and he'll just punch me up a ball, and it will more likely work.

What's been your No. 1 bowling accomplishment?

My bowling an 800 [series] – 808 [rolled April 11, 2012 at AMF Marlow Heights in the Fun Inc. League on games of 277-242-289].

How did you get involved with youth bowling?

I've been bowling since I was four, and my parents were league coaches, and so I bowled everything. My father was in the Air Force, so it was all over—I first started in California, then it was overseas, then Arizona, then South Carolina, and then here.

Why did you recently join the NCAUSBCA board as a youth director? What would you like to accomplish?

I felt as though [AMF] Marlow Heights wasn't getting a lot of the information that was needed for the youth bowlers. A lot of youth bowlers had left the Silver Hill Strikers [League], so I wanted to get a foot in the door to see how I can make a difference to keep the kids bowling, for one, and then get enough information for kids to go to college.

What do you like to do when you're not bowling?

I sew and I hang out with my grandbaby—she's 14 months.

How has your family affected your bowling career?

My father taught me how to bowl since I was four, and I've bowled ever since. They travelled everywhere. In South Carolina, they had a youth scratch tournament every quarter, at least four times a year, and they would drive me all over South Carolina so I can play there. Every person in my family bowls, and then I have my daughter now. Well, I actually have two daughters who went to school for bowling on scholarships and then my youngest one, she bowls. So everybody just bowls, and they just keep me interrupted and back and forth and vice versa. It's been a major part of my entire life.

What bowling goals remain?

I hope to get as many girls as possible into college on bowling scholarships.

Bowling better in tournaments; baking balls; how to practice

Q. I seem to bowl great in league, but whenever I try a tournament, things never seem to go well. I have tried to stay positive and not lose my confidence, but nothing seems to work. Help!

A. I can tell by what you wrote that you have lost confidence before you get to the lanes. I have a friend who calls this “STINKIN’ THINKIN.” You start with, when I go to a tournament, nothing seems to go well. Bad start—you already expect that nothing will go well. You try to stay confident, meaning you are already not confident. You are putting your efforts into your scoring over making quality shots.

Next tournament, forget about how you might finish and just make the best shots you can each time. If you don’t strike, make the spare. Take each frame as though it is a full game. This way, you can quit thinking ahead. You can’t bowl the tenth frame before bowling the first frame. All the frames of a game are the most important. It is easier to get one strike than it is to get 10 strikes in a row.

Thinking too far ahead is too much pressure for anyone. If you take away that pressure, your game and confidence will improve.

Q. I am just your average league bowler, and my bowling balls are over a year old and have quit hooking. My better-average friends have told me that heating the ball can get the oil build up out, and the ball will hook again. I want to put it in the oven, what temperature is best to get this done?

A. Please! Do not, I repeat, do not try to bake your ball in the oven. I was once in a pro shop when a league bowler came in and asked if I could fix his ball. He had tried to bake it in the oven to get out the oil. The ball was all rippled and looked like an over-ripe orange.

I informed him that the repair for this is a new ball. So he had to fork over $200 instead of the $25 to $35 to have his ball rejuvenated and resurfaced in our shop.

There is a ball rejuvenator that uses heat in most shops, and they do work. The heat is very low, and the ball spins around to keep the heat even. Most shops then will resurface the ball and bring it back to almost-new condition.

Moral of this story: Save yourself some money by letting your pro shop experts take care of your ball.

Q. Do you have any suggestions on the best way to practice?

A. The biggest thing you can do to increase your scores is to increase accuracy and make more spares. With that in mind when you practice, the first thing is don’t keep score. Work on your spare shooting; this will help you to get more spares and also helps with accuracy for the first ball.

My favorite tip for practice came from a coach and friend of mine in Las Vegas: Save money on your practice by shooting at your spares first. Go for the 10-pin or the 7-pin. Then go for your strike mark or the pocket next. This way you get two shots every frame. In practice, getting a strike means you get one less shot. Save those shots and save money.

HONOR SCORE CENTERS

(this issue, based on listed scores)

Record 3,870 series scored at Crofton

The "Double Platinum" team of Dominick Snyder, Jack Tipton, Kenny Solomon, Steve Scott, and Don Messinese scored a 3,870 scratch series December 10 in the Polish Open League at Crofton Bowling Centre. The series is a NCAUSBCA five-bowler team record.

Leadoff man Snyder (229 average) led the way with an 842 series on games of 300-298-244. Tipton (210) followed with 753 (278-266-209), and Solomon (210) rolled 815 (299-259-257). Scott (218), a substitute for Rusty Crawford, tallied 761 (269-256-236), and anchorman Messinese (232) contributed 699 (225-247-227).

The team, which recorded games of 1,371, 1,326, and 1,173, won 32 of 34 possible points that night and lengthened its lead atop the league standings.
